CROWN

(Charlotte, Reconnecting Ourselves With Nature),
a new chapter of the North Carolina Wildlife Federation, hosted by Queens University Environmental and Chemistry Department, invites you to a FREE presentation by a National Wildlife Federation - Habitat Steward.

Learn how to create a more environmentally-friendly landscape at home, work, school or place of worship.
Speak with other NWF Habitat Stewards who will share their advice and offer materials to help you get started as we approach the fall planting season.

Please join us on Thursday, September 19th at Queens University to learn how you can transform Charlotte into a wildlife friendly community!
